Arboretum Celebration Big Success

Old Timers Arrive Early and Stay Late at Dedication Ceremonies

Large Crowd Enjoys Splendid Program Staged on Park Lawn

Over 1500 persons attended, despite the heat, the Arboretum celebration last Sunday at the City Park.

The old timers began arriving as early as 9 o'clock in the morning and made themselves comfortable in the shade of the park trees. At noon there were more than a hundred in the place and they comfortably spread the contents of their picnic baskets on the tables and benches and had their meals like the old-fashioned Fourth of July parties. There was a group of pioneers from San Bernardino who had traveled over 50 miles, and another group from Santa Paula who had traveled almost 100 miles.

In the group from Los Angeles came E. A. Spiegel, who claims to be the only man in the state who is a forty-niner, son of a fortyniner and the grandson of a fortyniner. He was a member of Company A, 8th Infantry, California Volunteers, during the Civil War. He appeared in a red shirt covered with medals, buttons and badges. He spoke and sang.

There was another old-timer who thrilled the youngsters by riding around on an old-fashioned high-wheeled Columbia bicycle.

The delegation sent jointly by the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce and the Pioneers Society of Pasadena included the son of the man who named Pasadena, and the Spanish Troubadours whose music was greatly enjoyed. Jose Arias is leader of this organization and Miss Hortensia Daniels proved a most charming vocalist in renditions of the songs of Spain and Old Mexico with accompaniment by the Troubadours.

Compton sent a group of old-fashioned dancers, ten men and ladies whose contributions were quaintly reminiscent of pioneer days.

Ben Arid, "the poet of the burning sands," wrote an ode in honor of the celebration and published in the Inglewood papers.

Our own contributions were amusing and tuneful numbers by the Arboretum Quartet, Joe Eastwood, James C. Heasley, Jack and Dave Buchan.

The hit of the formal program was the address by the Hon. Chas.
G. Adams, president of the Los Angeles Planning Association. His talk on the Arboretum was illuminating and inspiring.

Mr. Humphries' address on the work of the Sierra Madre Botanical Society was so impressive that it is printed in full in this issue.

Capt. Josiah A. Osgood made a happy address on behalf of the pioneers of Sierra Madre, most of whom were present, and Galusha M. Cole, the 101-year-old marvel of Pasadena, responded very patly on behalf of visiting pioneers. This extraordinary old man, who was born on the day President John Adams and Thomas Jefferson died, came to Sierra Madre alone on the street car and returned in the same way to Pasadena. He goes alone and unattended to church in Los Angeles every Sunday, cooks his own meals and walks not less than two miles through the heavy traffic in Pasadena daily.

Col. Herman Hall, representing the city council, welcomed the guests for the mayor and spoke in strong and glowing terms of praise in behalf of the Arboretum movement and called upon Sierra Madrans to give it unstinted support.

George M. Sullivan as song leader, effectively coaxed the crowd to sing "Oh Susanna," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "America." Mrs. Randolph Wood sang Oscar Rasbach's "Trees," with the composer at the piano.

Lieut.-Gov. Buron R. Fitts was present during the entire program with his wife, mother-in-law and other members of the family. He said the governor had called him on long distance and told him to say he was unable to be present on account of a cold. The lieutenant governor made a brief but earnest address. He was followed by Congressman W. E. Evans who spoke well and who was prepared to hand the medal to Mr. Henry Guess of Rosemead as the oldest pioneer present, but Mr. Guess had disappeared. Mr. Guess was the first white child born in Los Angeles county, being born in

NAILS AND MUD DOT ROADS AS HULLS PRO- CEEDED EASTWARD

Friends of W. E. Hull and family have received word of their arrival at their old home in Saline, Michigan, after an eventful motor journey. They stopped at Grand Canyon and in Colorado to see the big sights, but one of the most astonishing and arresting things they encountered was the Iowa mud following recent heavy rains. That was even worse than the nails they collected in their tires in Arizona, the nails being attributed to bootleggers who were supposed to have used that means to halt pursuing officers. The Hulls expect to return home the latter part of this month, when Mr. Hull will again be at his desk in the Sierra Madre Hardware Company.

Science And Bible Will Be Sermon Topic

Harry Rimmer To Deliver
Address at Bethany
Sunday

"Modern Science and the Ancient Scriptures" is the topic of the Rev. Harry Rimmer, the well known scientist, who will preach again next Sunday evening at 7:30 in Bethany Temple.

Among other things, Dr. Rimmer is curator of the museum of natural history of the Kansas States Teachers' College and president of the Research Science Bureau, an archaeologist, biologist and paleontologist of note, having made valuable contributions to scientific research. He is one of the most popular speakers of today, intensely interesting and has great attraction for persons of every age.

Come and hear this man, who is a recognized authority on these scientific subjects, who is able to present them in such a logical and forceful manner. You will not have a dull moment and you can not afford to miss this treat. Bring your neighbors and friends.

MONDAY SAW BUSY SESSION FOR RECORDER

City Recorder C. W. Forman had a busy day Monday. Mrs.
Lena Kramer pleaded guilty to the charge of illegal possession of intoxicants and was fined $180.

Walton Bayard was fined $6 for speeding and $10 for disturbing the peace in an altercation with Officer McMillen, and also was deprived of his driver's license for a week.

Leon Stanley was fined $15 for driving with the muffler of his motor open.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pratt returned Monday from a ten-day vacation trip to Yosemite. It is interesting to note that Mrs. Pratt gave readings on the Camp Curry grounds.

BAILEY CANYON ALMOST IDEAL SPOT FOR AN AROBRETUM SAYS EDITORIAL IN SUNDAY TIMES

Referring to the celebration in connection with the Sierra Madre Arboretum, the Los Angeles Times said editorially:

"Situated on the slope of Mt.
Wilson in picturesque Bailey Canyon, the site of the arboretum or botanical park is almost ideal.
Here the beauty of earliest California is almost unspoiled.
Crowned by a waterfall, rising in a gradual slope from 700 to 2000 feet and protected from winds and frost, practically every type of vegetation is enabled to thrive with the variations of climate."

"In its broadest sense, an arboretum is a plant museum of living specimens. Aside from being a creditable ornament of any community, it is an important educational factor, affording scientists and students of botany a first hand opportunity to study a few of the world's 250,000 species of plant life. Botanical gardens are believed to have had their origin in ancient Rome and probably Greece, where they were devoted exclusively to the cultivation of medicinal plants. However, they have for centuries been in existence in practically every country in Europe."

Pine Flats Is Sought For Public Camp

Pasadena Would Make Spot a Public Recreation Camp
Ground

Easily Reached by Way of Sierra Madre and Sturtevant Trail

Pine Flats, one of the most beautiful spots in the mountains, may be secured by the City of Pasadena as a municipal recreation park and camp ground. Application will be made immediately by City Manager Orbison to the United States Department of Agriculture for the use of several hundred acres of land for the purpose.

The instructions were issued to the city manager by the board of city directors. The movement was sponsored by the reforestation committee of the Pasadena lodge of Elks, of which Henry E. Jaeger of Sierra Madre is a member.

The Pine Flats area is located about twenty-two miles from Sierra Madre by way of the Sturtevant Trail. It would be twenty-five miles by automobile by way of Mt. Wilson Toll road and the new road to Opids Camp, Red Box and Barley Flats. This road has been completed part of the way from Barley Flats to Pine Flats but is not yet open to the public beyond Opids' Camp.

Pine Flats is situated at an elevation of 5000 to 6000 feet. It is well covered with a splendid growth of tall pines, and is largely open country with very little brush. For many years a ranger's station has been maintained there during the summer months. Near the ranger's cabin is one of the oldest outing cabins in the mountains, built by the Cooper Brothers of San Gabriel, the late Captain William Bacon and his son, Captain "Bill" Bacon of Duarte, and others. It was erected in the '90s and was for years the outing headquarters of the region.

Car Line On Colorado May Be Extended

Extension of the Colorado Street car line as far east as Rosemead Avenue is sought by petitions now being circulated in East Pasadena and Lamanda Park. This would prove a boon to that entire section, including Michillinda and the new Chapman Woods subdivision.

Transportation to the new Woodrow Wilson Junior high school would also be somewhat improved from the Sierra Madre standpoint. The school buses will make regular trips both morning and afternoon. But during the intervening time the location at Blanche and Madre Streets is somewhat inaccessible by regular transportation routes. The proposed extension would run within two blocks of the school, making the school more easily reached than the McKinley Junior high where Sierra Madre pupils have been assigned during the past year.

Honor Student Is Here On Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. French are enjoying a visit from Mr.
French's brother, Lindor R. French.
The latter recently completed his university course at Yale with Phi Beta Kappa honors. Immediately thereafter he sailed from New York, coming to California by way of Panama Canal. After seeing something of Southern California he will sail for the Orient and continue a journey around the world as far as Germany, where he will take up his medical studies at Heidelberg.

After the celebration at the Park Sunday afternoon Senor Jose Arias and his troubadours went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ger-old D. French, 188 East Central, where they gave a most enjoyable serenade.

Mrs. Henrietta M. Baker is the guest of her sister, Mrs. George M. Lehner.

OFFICIAL FAMOUS COMPANY VISITS PARENTS HERE

H. E. Doolittle, of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, and manager of the great Manchester Biscuit Co. in that city, together with his wife and daughter, Miss Marjorie, is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Doolittle, of Mariposa Avenue. Though greatly impressed with Southern California, Mr. Doolittle will leave for his home in the Mid-West after only a week's stay in the Southland because of the press of business.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Doolittle's company carries five large accounts with western wholesalers at as many important sea board cities, and one carload of the firm's products is distributed by a Los Angeles concern every three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Doolittle have lived in Sierra Madre many years and hope that their son will make more frequent and longer visits here in future.

Miss Blumer Enjoys Trip In the Alps

Expresses Great Interest in Sierra Madre's New Arboretum

Miss Edith Blumer writes from Interlaken in the Alps, under date of June 26, to W. R. Humphries.
She tells of receiving with delight a copy of the Sierra Madre News from her good neighbor, Mrs. M. D. Welsher, finding it full of interesting news.

"I am very much enthused over the Arboretum," writes Miss Blumer, "and want to become a charter member. As I left my Sierra Madre check book in 'dear old Lunnion' I can't send my five dollars until I return next week, but, like Christmas, it is surely coming."

Miss Blumer says she is having a wonderful time in Switzerland with Miss Bell, and they also went over into Northern Italy and saw the Milan Cathedral. But she remains true to Sierra Madre for she adds, "Although I appreciate all the beauties here, I still think there is only one place to LIVE in, and that is Sierra Madre."

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Porter of Alhambra were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Conyers L.
Twyer on Sunday and attended the Arboretum celebration in the park. Mr. Porter formerly owned a ranch home on Mariposa Avenue which he sold to J. D. Sparks.

Dogs Victims Of Poisoner During Week

He's at it again!

The dog poisoner seems to have reappeared in Sierra Madre. At least three dogs are reported to have fallen prey to his dirty work during the past week.

A. E. O'Bannon of 337 Camillo Street lost a valuable female police dog Wednesday. Indications pointed to strychnine poisoning.

On Sunday a dog belonging to Mrs. Martha Mutsch, 197 West Central, died with all the indications of poison as the cause. Mrs.
J. J. Kelleher of West Montecito Avenue also lost a dog about the same time.

There isn't much to be said about dog poisoners that would be fit to print. But some day one of them will be detected. And then there will be plenty of people anxious to see that he gets his just deserts.

HUGE TOTALS REPORTED IN RELIEF FUNDS

One year after the first national bank in the United States was organized in 1791 the total receipts of the Government approximated for 12 months about $3-700,000. The expenditure for the year 1792 amounted to $8,269,000.
The United States then had a population close to 4,000,000.

In the fiscal year of the American Red Cross, ended June 30, there was contributed by the people to the Red Cross relief fund for Florida and the Mississippi Valley approximately $20,000,000 — a sum $8,000,000 in excess of the receipts and expenditures of the entire government in 1792.

Fire Danger In Mountains Now Highest

Meeting of Rangers and Citizens Called to Discuss Fire Prevention

Recent Fire Costing Half Million in Damages Cited by Rangers

Mountain fire protection problems of Sierra Madre were discussed at a luncheon meeting held Wednesday noon at the Mogul Tea Room. The meeting was called by W. R. Humphries, secretary-treasurer of the Sierra Madre Botanical Society and there were present Jess A. Graves of the County Forester's office, Ranger V. H. Vetter, Marshal E. H. Keegan, Street Supt. J. E. Carpenter, Councilmen Isaacs and Belohlavek, Arnold Kruckman, H. N. Pauling, Asst. City Engineer Buck, George B. Morgridge of the News and Mr. Humphries.

Starting with a consideration of the fire hazards of the Arboretum site in Bailey Canyon, the discussion quickly broadened in scope to embrace the entire fire protection system of Sierra Madre.

The forestry men laid stress on some of the chief danger points involved and various methods of reducing the hazard and facilitating the fighting of mountain fires.
One recent mountain fire cost $7000 to put it out, and in burning over 1000 acres it inflicted damage estimated from $250,000 to $500,000. The startling part of the statement was that an expenditure of $500 beforehand would have prevented the fire. They pointed out that neglect at the danger points along the foothills, in the care of property and in

Fire Engine Draws Autos Like Magnet

Another narrow escape from castastrophe followed the fire alarm Tuesday afternoon, when the department was summoned to the Walsworth warehouse on East Montecito. A small rubbish fire was quickly put out.

Through a misunderstanding of the telephone message, the fire engine was driven to the rear of Welsher's store. Several autos followed the engine, and when no fire was found and the engine returned to the Sierra Madre garage for better directions these cars followed closely. By that time autos were coming from all directions in response to the siren.

By the time the order was given to turn the engine and go over to East Montecito fifteen autos had flocked about the place and it was not only difficult but dangerous to get the engine around and off to a new start.

Fire Chief Richards is seriously thinking of asking the city trustees to adopt a stringent traffic ordinance which would require motorists to pull up to the curb and not obstruct the passage of the fire engine. This would not only be in the interest of public safety

DEAN WALTER WILLIAMS, NOTED JOURNALIST, PAYS VISIT TO THIS CITY--COMMENDS ARBORETUM

Sierra Madre had three distinguished visitors Wednesday afternoon in Dean Walter Williams of the school of Journalism of the University of Missouri, Omer D.
Gray of Missouri, probably the best known newspaper broker in the world, and Henry T. Burckhart now of Los Angeles but formerly of Missouri.

The visit was due to a peculiar combination of circumstances. Dean Williams was so delayed by three train wrecks that he missed his steamer for Japan and Sierra Madre has a newspaper that some people think is not "just another country paper."

Messrs. Williams, Gray and Burckhart were for many years friends and close associates in the newspaper business in Missouri.
When Dean Williams found he would have a fortnight to spend in California before the next steamer sailing he hunted up his old friend Burckhart, who volunteered as pilot for a tour of inspection.

Dean Williams expressed a desire to visit some representative newspapers. Mr. Burckhart has spent a good deal of time during a year or two of leisure in making himself familiar with the Cali-

BAND FOR SIERRA MADRE TO BE DIS- CUSSED AT MEETING

If there really is a sentiment for a cornet band in Sierra Madre, that fact is expected to be brought out at a meeting called for next Tuesday evening, 7:30, at the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

Sentiment which has lain dormant since the disbanding of the old Sierra Madre band has crystallized with the coming to town of several experienced musicians. T. M.
Webster, former director, is endorsing the move and has volunteered every possible assistance. Everyone interested in the movement should be at the Tuesday meeting.

It is said that a number of instruments owned by the old band will be available for use in the new organization.

Church Near Goal of Fund For Building

Three Thousand Dollars More In Cash and Contracts
Will Be Awarded

Contracts will be let and work will be started on the new Congregational Church building just as soon as $3000 in new money is received to swell the total of cash on hand to $25,000. This authorization was given to the building committee and church trustees by vote of the members at a meeting following a church dinner last Friday night.

E. E. Bacon, acting chairman of the building committee, reported $22,000 cash in the building fund, with $16,000 in outstanding pledges. This represents an increase of about $6,000 in cash on hand within a few weeks. The building committee felt that at least $3000 in cash should be received from sources other than outstanding pledges before they will be justified in letting contracts.

The total cost of the building is estimated by Architect Mott M.
Marston at $60,000. The lot on which the church will be built, at the southeast corner of Central and Hermosa, is valued at from $12,000 to $15,000 and is owned clearly by the church. The church also owns its present location consisting of 100 feet of frontage on the north side of Central. Sale of this property is expected to provide largely for the new church furnishings. Total value of the new building, furnishings and site will closely approach $100,000.

Contractors are now preparing their bids to be submitted to Architect Marston who has offices in the Douglas Building, Los Angeles.
The date for receiving bids was tentatively set for July 16, but has been extended to July 20. A set of plans and specifications is on file at the office of Alley Bros.
Lumber Co., for inspection of contractors who have not obtained one.

Robert Mitchell is planning to leave on Saturday, July 23, for Denver. He will be absent a fortnight, looking after property interests in Colorado.

Victor Hill has been employed by the U. S. Forest Service to keep a daily check on traffic over the Sturtevant Trail. He is stationed at Corum's Parking Place and in addition to keeping the record of all travelers imparts the much needed warning about fire danger and the no-smoking rule.

Forest Ranger V. P. Vetter says the precaution was adopted because of the unusual danger during periods of low humidity such as now exists. The forest service has adopted a policy of keeping careful records of humidity at various points, because low humidity is a big factor in making the brush and grass cover of the mountain sides more inflammable.
When the humidity gets below .50 it is considered dangerous, and during the recent fire near Glendale it was as low as .41, making the fire fighting particularly difficult. A recording station has been installed near Corum's place for the keeping of humidity records.

D. F. Robinson of 401 North Auburn Avenue left today for Glenview where he will visit his daughter, Mrs. Raymond Rutledge, formerly Marie Robinson. At Ventura he will visit his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs.
Raymond Robinson and family.

sponsible position with the Associated Oil Company of Ventura,

Mitchell Is Serving As Secretary

J. M. Campbell Tenders Resignation After Year
In Office

Plans for Reorganization Will Be Studied by Board of Directors

Robert Mitchell was elected temporary secretary of the chamber of commerce at the meeting of the directors Monday night. He succeeds J. M. Campbell who presented his resignation after serving about a year. The directors expressed their thanks and appreciation for the work of Mr. Campbell. It is understood he will resume his connection with the Ole Hanson real estate organization.

The chamber of commerce directors decided to take some time for the study of plans for reorganizing the activities of the body and will not make a permanent selection for secretary until such plans are worked out. In the mean time all the work will be done on a volunteer basis and Attorney Mitchell, who was formerly president of the chamber as well as mayor of Sierra Madre, will serve as secretary.

Particular care will be taken to see that plans for future development dovetail with what is already under way. Mr. Campbell expressed a willingness to continue his personal efforts for completion of the Central Avenue opening project.

Mr. Campbell also reported on the status of various enterprises which he believes should be pushed. These include the Sierra Madre Canyon flood control and street improvement plans, where easements are being secured for both projects; the extension of Santa Anita Avenue (Double Drive) to connect with Sturtevant Trail and the mountain road across the West Fork, Barley Flats and Pine Flats to Antelope Valley, and the construction of sidewalks along West Central Avenue.

The chamber of commerce office in the hotel building is open daily and the directors will see that information seekers are given every possible assistance. Those present at Monday night's meeting were Tom Tyler, W. D. Richards, President W. R. Humphries, Ray A.
Grant, Robert Mitchell, H. J. Alley and Mr. Campbell.

Sierra Madre Is a Natural Garden Spot

Secretary W. R. Humphries of the Sierra Madre Botanical Society made a very able address last Sunday at the City Park which comprehensively outlined the history and the motives behind the Sierra Madre Arboretum. The address, which should be read by every resident of Sierra Madre who did not hear it, follows:

"Those who are familiar with Sierra Madre realize it is a natural garden. Its topography, its abundance of moisture and sunlight, its climate, its atmospheric conditions and its soil cause vegetation to flourish luxuriantly on these slopes of Mt. Wilson. We have always taken these circumstances as a matter of course. You know about the giant Wistaria Vine. This great plant is up in Mrs. Fennel's place and attracts thousands of people every year, especially at blossom time, on account of its extraordinary size. The presence of this extraordinary plant in Sierra Madre has caused many of us for several years to wonder if the same soil and the same growing conditions might not enable us to make an interesting botanical garden.

"The idea for this garden is not attributed to any particular person. It has been in the air for some time. The particular virtue of the group which has organized the Sierra Madre Arboretum is its energy and initiative in making the idea concrete.

"We began to work on this idea several months ago. As might be expected we were fortunate in having among us many intelligent lovers of flowers whose support was instantaneous, and when we went to our good friends, Dr. Clement of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Robinson of Exposition Park, and Frank Shearer, superintendent of parks of Los Angeles, we were given wise counsel, aid and active help which we can never adequately acknowledge.

"When we marshaled our ideas and were ready to present them, something over 100 influential and substantial residents of Sierra Madre gathered one night at an informal mass meeting in the Woman's Club and with a unanimity almost unparalleled in the history of Sierra Madre decided to have a botanical garden or arboretum at Bailey Canyon. It was decided the first step was to form a botanical Society, and a committee was created with instructions to bring this organization into existence as rapidly as possible, and to start simultaneously every activity to bring the botanical garden into existence.

"I wish to say right here that this movement never has been anything but what it appears to be. It is not a cloak to boom any real estate project. If you thoroughly investigate the situation of Sierra Madre you will discover there is not sufficient land in any one plot within the city's limits to warrant any real estate exploitation of any kind. Bailey Canyon itself is the property of the City. The land on one side of it belongs to the Passionist Fathers, who maintain a monastery; on the other is the beautiful estate of Mrs. Hensy, daughter of the man who founded Sierra Madre, and above are the forest lands belonging to the federal government. At its entrance is a small undeveloped tract whose owners are so indifferent to the Arboretum that they have not even joined the botanical society.

"I emphasize these facts because we have often been asked on our word of honor to affirm that it is not a real estate scheme. Most decidedly and emphatically it is not. It is a very sincere and earnest effort on the part of the people of Sierra Madre to enjoy in the most highly intelligent way the extraordinary advantages nature has provided for them, and at the same time they wish to share with the rest of the world the benefits which their location has given them. Get this clearly: The motive behind the making of this botanical garden or arboretum is an intelligent civic pride. Nothing more and nothing less.

"Every penny thus far used has been provided by the people of Sierra Madre. And it has been given voluntarily in modest sums, mostly in sums of $5.00. With the small amount of money we have thus far had available we have, I think, done wonders. The city under the friendly counsel of City Attorney Baker, has set aside the eighty acres of Bailey Canyon for the Arboretum. Father Peter, the Prior of the Passionist Fathers, who delivered the beautiful invocation which opened this celebration, has promised additional acreage from the adjoining property of the order. And we expect to get more acreage from the federal government at the upper end of the canyon. I feel also that it is not improbable in the course of time that Mrs. Hensy will donate some of her wonderful estate as a memorial for her father, N. C. Carter, whose vision created Sierra Madre.

"We will start with an exquisite modest arboretum or botanical garden of five or eight acres. But that does not prevent us from having, some time in the next twenty-five, fifty, seventy-five or 100 years an arboretum of 300 or 400 acres. I feel certain in a century or less, after most of us are gone, the thing we celebrate today have a magnitude and a value and significance to coming generations that will make them look back with respect and admiration upon this day and this hour. For this is a historical occasion. We are founding something that means much, not only to this city and to the San Gabriel Valley, but to all of Southern California; yes, to all of this state. In fact it means much to all of the Pacific Slope and has a value to all the United States. When our arboretum is in active existence students, working for the welfare of all humanity, will come to draw inspiration from its resources and will come from every race and continent of the world. We are doing something that has universal value and will be beneficial to all the world, we hope, for centuries to come.

"It is on account of the profound meaning of this occasion that it warrants the recognition of the governor and the lieutenant-governor of the State of California as well as the many other distinguished men and women who are here.

"It is our happy circumstance that the accident of location has provided us with this opportunity. A botanical garden is not local nor regional. It belongs to all the world. It bears the same relation to the world that a university bears to the world. Oxford is located in Oxfordshire in England but it forms the characters of youth in all the world. Harvard is located at Boston but its facilities have been utilized by men in every known walk of life and in every place where man can live. A botanical garden or arboretum is not only a great outdoor museum of vegetation but it is an outdoor university, and as a center of learning, study and research it belongs not merely to the city in which it is located or the state to which it belongs, but it is possessed by all the world and offers whatever it possesses to all the world. This is the reason why this arboretum or any other arboretum readily gains the support of the finest and most solid elements, not only in its immediate vicinity but wherever there are men and women interested in culture, education, beauty, science and the growth of knowledge. That is why our general committee includes the names of persons like Mr. and Mrs. C. Harwood of Pasadena, County Forester Spence D. Turner, Dr. D. T. MacDougal of the Carnegie Desert Laboratory of Tucson, Arizona; Charles H. Prisk, publisher Pasadena Star-News; Will Hays, president Motion Picture Producers' Association; Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Fry, Myron Hunt, the Rt. Rev. W. Bertrand Stevens, coadjutor bishop of the Episcopal Church; Henry W. O'Melveny, Harry Carr of the Los Angeles Times; John Stevens McGroarty of the Mission Play, Managing Director James Woods of the Los Angeles Biltmore; Prince Erik of Denmark, Donald Barker, A. L. Sondregger, Ora E. Monnette of the Bank of Italy, Mayor George E. Cryer of Los Angeles, Franklin K. Lane, Jr., County Counsel Everett W. Mattoon, Edward A. Dickson, publisher Los Angeles Express, Dr. Warren B. Bovard, vice president University of California; H. E. Bissell, president Conservation Association of Southern California; E. F. Underhill, trustee of Glendora; J. M. Friedlander, state commissioner of corporations; Dr. Ernest C. Moore, director University of California at Los Angeles; Bert L. Clogston, Dr. Walter F. Dexter, president Whittier College; the Rt. Rev. Bishop Cantwell; G. Aubrey Davidson, vice chairman of the Bank of Italy and presidential Exposition at San Diego; Dr. Victor

Le Roy Duke, University of Redlands; W. W. Mines, Mrs. H. I. Stuart of Pasadena, Edgar Rice Burroughs, M. H. Newmark, Congressman W. E. Evans, Baroness Ottilie de Ropp; D. S. Hammach, Frank X. Pfaffinger of the Los Angeles Times; Miss Ada B. Cummings of Santa Paula, Frank Mead of Ojai, Secretary J. M. Paige of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce, President A. M. King of the Valley Beautiful Association; J. M. Danzinger of the Pan-American Oil Company; Secretary L. E. Moselle of the Los Angeles City Club; George W. Marston, philanthropist, donor of Balboa Park to San Diego; Marston Hall at Pomona College; W. J. Hunsaker, Dr. W. Jarvis Barlow; W. B. Mathews of the Los Angeles department of power and light; William Mulholland, J. B. Coulston of Pasadena, Dr. Paul Popenoe, Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, Senator Shortridge and others.

"There are many botanical collections and so-called arboreta in the United States. They are worthy institutions. But it is well to remember that the institutions on this continent which may properly be called botanical gardens or arboreta with every qualification imposed by science and art may be counted on the fingers of your hands. And mark this, there are probably less than 100 botanical gardens or arboreta, properly so-named, in the whole world. And what we are doing is to launch here today in this community an arboretum or botanical garden which will immediately take its place in the ranks of this important group of institutions.

"For it is not size that makes an arboretum or botanical garden important. Nor is it the money spent upon it. But it is the knowledge, the talent and the sincerity behind its planning that gives it its value. And with men like Mr. Shearer, Mr. Robinson, Mr. Adams and Dr. William Tyler Miller, one of America's greatest botanists, and Dr. Marcus E. Jones, one of the world's greatest botanical researchers, and Frederick L. Olmsted, the Nestor of American Park builders, all of whom are here today, as well as Dr. Clement, propagator of the Klondike melon; Mr. Wm. Hertrich, builder of the Huntington Gardens; Mr. D. W. Coolidge, the rare-plant collector; Mr. Theodore Payne, and others, as the active directors of our work, as the inspiration for our plans, we know that we will contribute an institution not only of beauty but of priceless value to the sum total of the world's cultural assets.

Mission Play Will End Its Season Soon

Climaxing the longest and most successful season it has ever had, during which it has broken its own records over and over again and made many new ones because there were no others to break, the universally famous Mission Play will ring down the curtain on its sixteenth year at Old San Gabriel within two weeks. Sunday afternoon, July 24th, has been set as the closing date for this perennial California drama. It will conclude its first run in its own magnificent new million-dollar home and will carry off with it all of the brilliant laurels which could ever have been dreamed of for any production. What will follow the Mission Play is being kept as a surprise announcement.

The auto license plates for 1928 will be of blue and gold, affording a high visibility, it is stated. The French chamber of deputies has voted the sum of $150,000 to be used for entertainment of the Legionnaires when they hold their convention in France this year.

Allegations in divorce actions not later substantiated by facts will make the complainant subject to level proceedings under a bill recently signed by Gov. C. C. Young.

Awakened in the middle of the night by a strange odor in their bedroom, Mr. and Mrs. Alois Sabinski of Fullerton, scared away a prowler who carried an implement which looked like a tire pump. The odor was discovered to be chloroform.

Cool sleeping quarters even on hottest nights

HERE IS an easy, inexpensive way to make your sleeping rooms cooler all summer as well as warmer all winter. Line your attic with Upson Board—the cost is surprisingly low!

Certified tests prove that one thickness of Upson Board stops as much cold or heat as ten thicknesses of ordinary building paper. And while Upson Board is making your attic winter-warm or summer-cool, it will also build in maid's room, play room, work room or sewing room.

Upson Board is different! Weighs only 1/2 as much as plaster board, so one carpenter can apply it, even on ceilings. Tests prove it 40% to 150% stronger. Fire and moisture resisting. Properly applied, can never warp or bulge. Upson Fasteners eliminate ugly nail heads.

Phone or call us now, to find how little it would cost to Upsonize your attic.

Finding New Outlets for California Citrus Fruits

DURING the 1916 crop year, 44,658 carloads of oranges, lemons and grapefruit were produced and sold by California citrus growers. In 1926, this volume had risen to 63,640 carloads, an increase of nearly 43%.

In 1916 Florida shipped 20,925 cars of citrus fruits; in 1926, 36,750 carloads, an increase of over 75%.

But in spite of this ever increasing competition from both within and without, Sunkist growers had returned to them considerably more per car in 1926, than in 1916.

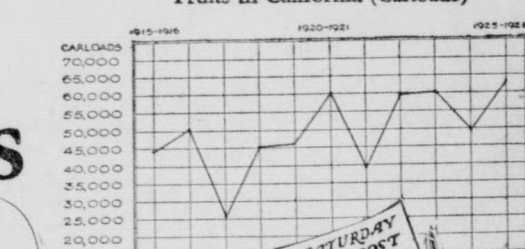

The sales promotion efforts of the Exchange have been largely responsible for this profit-making effort.

In America, through continuous advertising by the Exchange, "Sunkist" has become a household word. More people prefer it than all other brands of citrus fruits combined. Thus the word "Sunkist" alone will be a stimulus for future sales of Exchange fruit.

Sunkist advertising has educated the American public to a new appreciation of oranges and lemons—their healthfulness, their deliciousness and their multitude of uses, thus developing new consumers and persuading old users to consume more.

Exchange investigators found that soda fountains did not push fresh fruit drinks because of the labor required to extract the juice by hand. So under the guidance of the Exchange, approximately 40,000 electrical fruit juice extractors have been manufactured and sold at cost to soda fountains. Thus a new market for citrus fruit has been created. Last year, it is estimated, Exchange growers disposed of 1,700,000 boxes through this one outlet. And in addition, 630,000 new glass hand reamers have been sold to increase the home consumption of orange and lemon drinks.

Total Annual Production of Citrus Fruits in California (Carloads)

People buy more fruit if it is displayed prominently and attractively. So last year Exchange promotion experts called on 59,082 leading retail grocers, fruit merchants, soda fountains, hotels and restaurants to arrange for window displays, introduce better fruit merchandising methods and in other ways stimulate California citrus fruit sales.

Foreign sales of Exchange fruit for 1926 were over three times as great as in any previous year. The United Kingdom, Europe, the Orient, the Hawaiian and Philippine Islands, New Zealand and Australia are being developed for larger shipments each succeeding year.

The products plants of the Exchange absorb thousands of carloads of oranges and lemons annually. Here lemons are converted into citric acid, lemon oil and citrus pectin, and oranges are made into orange oil and concentrate. Thus Sunkist growers dispose of all their fruit.

This constant expansion of old and new consumer and dealer outlets is only one of the many services rendered by the California Fruit Growers Exchange.

Yet the total cost of all Exchange services is less than the sales expense alone of any other citrus marketing organization. For every dollar of sales only two or three cents are required to cover the entire cost of Exchange service (2.48 cents last year).

The 11,000 grower members of the Exchange invite you to join them in this great cooperative movement.

Ask your neighbors who market through the Exchange how they value its services. Talk to the manager of the nearest Exchange association or District Exchange. Or write now for further information to California Fruit Growers Exchange, Box 530, Station C, Los Angeles.

the Act of March 3, 1879

"Every time the clock ticks there is just so much less time to live, to love, and be loved," said Mary Roberts Rinehart. "Why quarrel and lose precious time—it is so limited and so little of it to call our own."

LET'S HAVE THE TRUTH

THE thermometer is a scientific instrument with many interesting possibilities. But few persons use it as such. A thermometer is used chiefly by many people to confirm preconceived notions of their own discomfort. It affords an excuse to proclaim their dissatisfaction. The higher it registers in summer and the lower it falls in winter, the more they have to talk about. When it sticks around the middle range it does not attract them. Unless it goes to extremes it is not an interesting subject of conversation.

The thermometer crank likes to watch the one on the sunny side of the building, with the heat reflected from the sidewalk. It justifies his inclination to step into the nearby soda fountain and have a drink. It thereby accomplishes what it was hung there for. It would be alright if he would then forget that thermometer till he is thirsty again. Instead, he turns to the morning paper to see how the weather is elsewhere and compares that soda fountain thermometer with the official reports from the big city, to the discredit of his home-town climate.

Weather reports in Los Angeles, for instance, are taken with recording thermometers suspended high in the air, far above the height limit buildings. So far as possible such factors as reflected heat from pavements and buildings are eliminated. The readings afford a fair record from day to day and from year to year. But they afford no fair basis of comparison with the thermometers concerned in our local sidewalk gossip. A more reasonable comparison would be given by suspending an accurate thermometer in the middle of a leafy orange tree.

If the chamber of commerce wants to perform a public service easily within its limited means, it might undertake to secure an official temperature record under fair conditions and see that the figures are published. The truth would dispel erroneous notions in the minds of many people about our delightful Sierra Madre climate.

THE ONLY BARRIER

WHY doesn't the News agitate for a swimming pool?" asked a lady the other day who is kindly disposed toward the News and the boys and girls of Sierra Madre as well.

Frankly, that was considerable of a shock. The News has taken pride in agitating for a swimming pool ever since the need became acute. Nobody is more anxious to have the boys and girls, young and old, provided with ample means for this finest kind of recreation. The News will continue to agitate for a pool, in season and out of season. No, it will never be out of season to agitate for a pool until we have one.

The trouble with this good lady was that she feared some other public enterprise was going to interfere with getting the pool. So far as can be seen from where this is written there is no competition between the pool and any other project. The only thing that will delay getting an adequate public swimming pool in Sierra Madre will be disagreement between the pool advocates themselves. If they will all get together on a site, the thing can be put over handsomely.

THE LARGER QUESTION

THIS pool question is not an isolated problem, to be settled all by itself. It is a part of a big program of community building. The right kind of pool in the right place will be one of the biggest single factors in making Sierra Madre a desirable residence city. A pool in the wrong place will start with a handicap to its usefulness and will fail to reach its maximum possibilities for good.

A public pool is obviously a part of the community park system. In deciding the pool location that fact should be kept in mind. The News is not committed to any particular location. But it does believe that before locating the pool, the authorities should have before them a comprehensive survey of the city's park possibilities. The pool should then be so located and constructed as to fit in logically with the subsequent park development.

Park planning, furthermore, is only one phase of city planning. When park plans are adopted they should be formed with due regard to a complete city plan, including a plan for future highways, probable population distribution, residential and business development and every other factor that is a part of a well ordered city. The sooner Sierra Madre can formulate and adopt a city plan, the sooner the city can begin to grow in other than an accidental, haphazard fashion.

The last legislature took a big forward step in providing for the machinery of city planning. The law now has a punch in it and reflects the growing importance attached to city planning. The city trustees, the chamber of commerce, the woman's club and every other civic agency ought to get together and see that a definite program is started soon. Let's quit being like Topsy, who "just grew."

Observations

(By G. B. M.)

EVADING A DILEMMA—

Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School told a good story the other day in response to a highly laudatory introduction as a luncheon speaker. He said he was not always sure of the status of an educator in the public mind, and was reminded of the perplexity of a Virginia man who found himself a guest at the White House on the occasion of the celebrated visit of Booker T. Washington at the same place. "Out of respect for the chief magistrate of our country I couldn't call him nigger," said the old southerner, "and the instincts of a Virginia gentleman would not permit me to say mistuh. It was very embarrassing, suh, very embarrassing. I was in a quandary until an inspiration came to me and I evaded the dilemma by saying, 'How do you do, Professor.'"

Since hearing Dean Pound I have passed the story on to a number of educator friends who seem to get particularly keen enjoyment out of it.

JUST TRY IT—

Are you one of the fellows who thinks an editor ought to run the paper so as to suit everybody? If so, you might try scratching some other person on the spot where he itches the most. After you have tried it a few times you will appreciate the editor's position.

Also, remember that just because your own particular itch is not being scratched is no proof that the newspaper is devoting all its energy to alleviating the itch on some other fellow's carcass.

WHO CAN SPARE THEM—

Last week I expressed a desire for some safety pins with which the awnings in front of certain popular stores might be pinned up a little higher above the sidewalk. Thought maybe someone would volunteer a sufficient supply. As this is written the awnings are still flapping so low that anybody more than five feet tall has to duck or be swatted in the face. If anybody has the safety pins to spare, I'll present them to the proper persons.

GOOD MORNING EXERCISE—

Commuters who miss the eight o'clock car will have only two miles to walk to the end of the Colorado Street line is the proposed extension is made. Laman-da Park and East Pasadena people are now petitioning for the extension as far as Rosemead Avenue.

By J. R. E.

"Some men are born great, others have greatness thrust upon them." Tuesday, the News office was signally honored by a visit from three of Missouri's best known newspaper men—Dean Walter Williams, of the School of Journalism, Missouri University; Omer D. Gray, the world's most famous newspaper broker, and Henry T. Burckhardt, veteran newspaper man who is so much smarter than the other two that he gathered up his belongings and moved to California after many years of honorable service in the "Show Me" state. He now lives at Glendale.

W. R. Humphries, who isn't overlooking any chances to boost Sierra Madre, took us on a short tour of the city; showed the distinguished visitors the Wistaria Vine, Scenic Point and other points of interest—and when it was all over the visitors said such nice things concerning their impressions of Sierra Madre that this writer is sorry he failed to have a short-hand reporter near by.

They were no more pleased than we were proud to show them the charming city of our adoption.

The newspapers from the middle west are using space these warm summer days to advertise the perennial chautauqua, which had its beginning back at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y., under the guidance of the famous Methodist Episcopal bishop, E. H. Vincent, and which has since spread throughout the nation, though it seems not to have secured a footing in the far west.

The present-day chautauqua program for the week is designed to provide a maximum of entertainment and education at a minimum expense and in the beginning of the movement this design was as rigidly as possible adhered to. Later, when rival chautauqua agencies blossomed out and the competition became stronger, forcing down the price, the quality of the talent was at times allowed to diminish.

Roughly, a week's program consisted of, say one first-class play, three first-class musical entertainments, four or five first class speakers and several entertainers of lesser merit to fill in and make up the fourteen programs for the week's afternoons and evenings.

Usually the programs were very much worth while, and the cost, because of short "jumps" and small overhead was quite low—ranging from $1500 to $3000, according to the quality of the talent and the number of "headliners."

In the Middle West in late years there has been a decided leaning to a week of entertainment by talent drafted, in the main, from the local people. About the only drawback to a successful week was a lack of organization. The usual small city or large town is usually bursting with really fine talent which would gladly respond to an appeal for a public enterprise such as this could be made.

And this brings us down to the point: Why not a week's carnival of entertainment, or a chautauqua, or better still, a fiesta, put on in Sierra Madre every year with Sierra Madre talent? Unfortunately we have no historical romance upon which to found a pageant, such as is staged annually at Hemet, and in which local talent takes all but the leading parts; or San Gabriel with its famous Mission Play. But does a city need an excuse to parade (if the word may be used here) its talent, especially if that talent happens to be above the ordinary—much of it far above the ordinary. Many of our most talented musicians are always pleased to give gracious assent to demands upon their capabilities—others have not appeared locally. A week's fiesta would give the city an opportunity to get acquainted with its charming musicians and talented players and bring an added zest to community life.

A tentative program might be suggested as follows: Opening night, "The Mikado," or "Pinafore," or one of the other delightful Gilbert and Sullivan light operas. (One could name the principles off-hand). The second night a play by the Temple Players. No need to comment on the calibre of this evening's entertainment. The third night, a short musical prelude and an address by one of the noted scientists, or doctors, or leading business men of this city or a neighboring city on a topic of special interest. The fourth night, a "concert night" with numbers by the Sierra Madre Trio.

The fifth and sixth nights—well, to "write" it, a little harder to produce it, perhaps, but surely within the range of possibilities.

At any rate it seems to us that many precious moments are going to waste because of a lack of organization and the desire to do something worthwhile and a bit unusual.

And if this dissertation isn't cut off right here there will be no room to state that Lela Joy has almost all her teeth and can stand right up and be counted—but she don't know what feet are for—yet.

Interesting News Notes from Sierra Madre Canyon

Canyon residents learned Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Canyon Improvement Association held in the Canyon Club that many easements on the stream channel were being turned in to the committee, a total of more than 1200 feet having been acquired. It was pointed out that a considerable portion of the stream channel passed through city property and that an easement from the city would be required. W. D. Richards was appointed to present this matter to the board of city trustees at their next meeting.

A discussion of the paving of canyon roads brought an announcement from Assistant City Engineer Buck that eight additional easements necessary for straightening roads had been acquired. In reply to a question Mr. Buck stated that the road could probably be constructed without requiring easements but it would not be as convenient for traffic. He asserted that the easements desired would eliminate square corners at certain points in the roads.

The former easement committee for roads appointed prior to the flood of April, 1926, consisting of Messrs. Heasley, Richards, Schlalos, Bradford and Mmes. Scott and Wheeler were urged to proceed with the work of procuring the remainder of the easements required.

H. E. Hedger, engineer of the right-of-way department of the flood control commission, was a Canyon visitor on Monday. The purpose of Mr. Hedger's visit was to answer questions which had arisen in connection with the granting of easements for flood control purposes. Mr. Hedger announced that the commission would be prepared to proceed with the work as soon as a continuous strip of easements of at least 1000 feet had been obtained.

Forests Are Great Boon to California

California's prosperity, as exemplified by her fruit and farm crops, hydroelectric development, timber and livestock industries, recreational advantages, and her thousands of happy homes, is inseparably linked with the wealth of resources provided by her National forests, according to a new descriptive bulletin on "The National Forests of California" by Robert W. Ayres and Wallace Hutchinson of the California district, United States Forest Service. "The Spanish explorers who were attracted to California in the early days were right in their assumption that the region possessed wealth beyond the dreams of avarice," say the authors, "but they missed the one kind of wealth they sought—gold—and they failed to realize the wealth that is in her forests and waters, wealth now being derived from a thriving timber industry and from prosperous irrigated farms and orchards."

The 18 national forests of California cover nearly one-fifth of the total area of the state and contain resources valued at $300,000,000 not taking in account their value in protecting the mountain watersheds upon which nearly all the actual and potential major irrigation and hydroelectric power developments of the state, and the continuity of municipal and domestic water supplies.

The national forests in California are managed with a view of perpetuating their vast resources. In all lumbering operation on the Government's forest lands only the mature trees, previously designated by Forest officers, are cut, and precautions are taken in felling and slash disposal to protect the young growth from fire or other injury. Every effort is made to keep the lands producing timber up to their full capacity.

California was one of the earliest states to give thought to the care of her natural resources and as early as 1850 the best thinkers of the state were urging scientific care of the forests.

Notwithstanding this fact there are nearly 1-1/2 million acres of privately owned cut-over lands in the state now producing but a small part of the timber that could be grown on them. Also some 50,000 acres a year of privately owned forest are being logged off, of which at least 40% is left in an unproductive condition.

Stock raising is the oldest industry in the state, and at one time was attended by violence and range wars, says the bulletin. Today the Forest Service effectively regulates the grazing on 24,000,000 acres of Government and private lands within the National Forests.

The circular, which is illustrated with 26 photographic cuts and a skeleton map of the national forests of the state, gives an interesting account of the early history of California's forests, the national forest resources in the state, the value of forage in the forests, recreation possibilities, and scenic attractions, wild life, the administration of the national forests, the development of forest roads and trails, the causes and means of preventing forest fires, and production and consumption of lumber in the state.

THE GOLDEN EGG

Enough is enough, and too much is too much, applies to any necessary food in a child's diet.

The egg is valuable if used for its food worth and not because it is easy to cook. If given in overdoses it may tax digestion. The egg supplies protein similar to that of milk, the yoke is abundant in vitamin A which sends the growth curve upwards and protects the child against illness through the building up of resistance. The fat of the egg is of excellent quality and usually easily digested. The egg yoke is one of the richest sources of iron. Iron must be planned for in the diet because it is in such small portions in most foods. The child needs this iron to make up his daily loss in excretions, for growth and the making of good red blood. The iron in other foods, such as fruits, green vegetables and whole cereals is better assimilated when the iron of egg yolk is also added.

Children must be fed eggs with care, however. The white is not necessary at first and is not so easily digested then.

Usually by nine months of age a child may have egg yolk. At first one teaspoonful may be given as in orange juice. Anemic children need it earlier. Later finely minced hard cooked yolks of eggs can be given. (To hard cook eggs place in warm water and bring to boiling point, then set vessel aside and let stand for thirty minutes. The yolk will be mealy.)

Not more than one yolk should be given the very young child, per day. The three-year-old can take a whole soft cooked egg or in other dishes such as custards and soufflé, and preferably at the noon hour, almost every day.

The quart of milk a day insures calcium for bones and teeth. The golden egg a day (depends upon child's need) insures iron for good blood and growth.—Christmas Seal Sale.

Work will soon be started on a 30-foot unit of the Foothill Boulevard at San Bernardino. The plans call for the completion of the boulevard to the full 30-foot width between San Bernardino and Los Angeles and nine miles of the paving will be completed the first year. Rights of way were secured for a 100-foot boulevard, to which width it is planned to extend the roadway at a future date.

La Habra was saved from a murder mystery last week after a youth of that city, reported murdered was found with nothing worse to his credit than a bloody nose. A posse of twenty men spent several hours searching for the boy, Vernon Donaldson, who had gone out riding with another young fellow in the town, and when a bloody handkerchief was found in the latter's car, "the chase was on." It developed the boys had "fought it out," but far from the bloody nose being the finish of the case, they were both fined $100 and a suspended sentence of many months in the county jail. Of course both were "liquored up" when the fight occurred.

These Are Park Days!

I believe we all enjoyed our friendly afternoon at the City Park. Big improvements are being made there and all of us appreciate the effort of our city council and the park commissioners who are responsible for the work of beautifying the city's breathing spot.

Joe Eastwood, who helps to put this paper to bed every week is getting a group together and hopes with this group to be able to present at least twice a month a popular concert or entertainment at the Park.

H. W. Peterson who leads the band at Arcadia has promised to bring his band to this city and give us a concert. Fine!

A lady who read my ad about "fifty families" has written to me and has asked me to count her and her family in the fifty new families for dear old Sierra Madre.

One of my slogans is, "No trouble to answer questions," so folks, fire 'em in and the little office will "do the rest."

The safety razor idea to the streets here is good. A clean shave goes a long way to make a perfect day. Now the city is shaving the streets, why not haircut the weeds on the parkings?

Vacant lots are like empty cans. What I would like to see is more building, more neighbors, and if we can't build on the lots let's clean 'em up anyway.

Travel information, employment bureau, insurance, that insures, real estate that's real, homes that are homelike, and the bank is opposite.

Feeling lots better because lots are moving better.

Thanks!

Yours very truly,

W.R. Humphries

Shavitch To Be Conductor At the Bowl

A mixed chorus of 500 voices will sing to the accompaniment of a symphony orchestra of 100 pieces on Tuesday night, July 19, when "Italian Night" is celebrated in Hollywood Bowl. The chorus, which has been trained by John Smallman, will be under the direction of Pietro Cimini. They will sing "Hymn to the Sun" from "Iris," by Mascagni, and the prologue to "Mefistofele" by Boito, in which number Leslie Brigham, American basso, recently returned from operatic triumphs in Italy, will sing the important role of Mephisto.

Vladimir Shavitch, noted Russian conductor, will direct the programs during the remainder of the week.

A unique arrangement has been made by the Bowl management which will bring, for the first time in the history of the Bowl, a man and wife as conductor and soloist, respectively, on the same program on Friday evening, July 22, when Shavitch and his wife, known as Tina Lerner on the concert stage, will appear in their respective roles.

FISHERMEN GO DOWN TO THE SEA FOR FISH

Stoutly averring that they went for deep sea fish only and had no interest in the "suckers" rumored to be around the floating gambling palace off the coast, a dozen Sierra Madre business men report a successful trip on Wednesday. They went to Santa Monica where they chartered a boat and spent the day on a calm and peaceful sea.

In the party were George Halpin, Norman Morrison, Gordon Brooks, Orville Emley, Fred Griebow, Ray A. Grant, Albert Wheeling, Jack Alley, L. E. Steinberger, Guy Steinberger, J. M. Campbell and D. G. Arthur.

According to reports alleged to authentic Orville Emley, who caught three sharks, also caught the biggest halibut (three of 'em), while Albert Wheeling caught the first fish and the most fish (size not stated.)

They had advertised a special sale of furniture, and the principal statement was to the effect that 100 of the finest mattresses, coil springs and box springs were to be sold "at one-half the factory price or less."

FIRE DANGER IN MOUNTAINS HIGH

but would help to remove one of the earmarks of a "hick town" maintaining adequate fire lines in the mountains, may bring a similar catastrophe to Sierra Madre.

Improvements in existing city ordinances were recommended by the fire fighters and will be presented for consideration of the city trustees. Methods of procedure to secure county and federal aid for the mountain fire protection were also discussed.

In view of the chronic impoverishment of the city treasury, a fire protection week clean-up was suggested and will be undertaken by the Sierra Madre Botanical Society in August. In the meantime Mr. Humphries and associates will take steps to reduce the fire hazard in Bailey Canyon at the earliest possible time.

What's Doing At Theaters In Pasadena

At the Colorado Manager Wuerz has selected "Flesh and the Devil" with a distinguished cast which includes John Gilbert of "Big Parade" fame, Greta Garbo, the exotic and scintillating Swedish star, Lars Hanson, star of "The Scarlet Letter," George Fawcett, Marc MacDermott and Eugene Bessner, all well known players.

"Flesh and the Devil" is taken from Sunderman's story "The Undying Love" which created a furor a few years ago both in America and abroad. It is the first German picture made in America and retains the old-world atmosphere and technique, with European settings. It is described as a gripping, thrilling story of love that wrecked all save friendship; a masterpiece of human emotions.

Fanchon and Marco will present their newest stage idea "Blues," with Nora Schiller, diminutive blues singer and the famous 24 serpentine girls in new dance creations.

The Florence
"Cradle Snatchers" the comedy drama that played more than a year on Broadway, has been given a screen version by Fox with Louise Fazenda in the principle role and a cast of screen favorites second to none.

Starting Sunday, Laura LaPlante in "Beware of Widows" another smart comedy, is booked. It is a screen story of a wild and hilarious night on a house-boat. A Hal Roach comedy "The Girls Said No" is another riot of fun, and Aesop's Fables and Kinograms are included on the program, which will be for four days only.

The Strand
The attraction at the Strand this week is Richard Dix in "Man-Power." Mr. Dix, who has played in such successes as "The Quarterback" and "Knockout Reilly" as well as many other famous pictures, has his greatest role in his latest production, according to critics throughout the country. The cast in support of Dix is headed by Mary Brian, Charles Hills Mailes, Philip Stange and others of note on the silver screen.

PLEASURE IN REMEMBRANCE

"The end of human life is the same as that of other life," said a confident young voice, "to grow and mature and reproduce the species."

"I do not think so," answered her companion.

"What is it then?" she asked. "The end of human life is to increase the sum total of human happiness," he answered. "That will be great enough to include our own individual happiness."

Then the older friend asked, "What is happiness?" At the end of the discussion they accepted the philosopher's distinction between pleasure and happiness: "Pleasure is that experience which gives satisfaction to the senses; happiness is that thing which gives pleasure in remembrance."—Lloyd Galpin, President of the High School Teachers' Association.
